Hollow Chocolate Figures

By Reverend Dean Koyama

The sun was harsh that afternoon in Sacramento in the early 1960's. Temperatures would easily high jump over the century mark. The only comfort was watching the black-and-white TV in the living room where a small chattering wall-unit air conditioner struggled to release its precious cool air. But even the heat couldn't keep four young energetic children inside.

It was well after noon when the sun would descend slightly over the rooftop of our house casting a cool shadow over the sand box that my father built in the backyard. Only when the sandbox was in the shade would Mom let us go outside to play in it in the summer.

Armed with yellow Tonka dump trucks, bulldozers, and backhoes, we built cities complete with tunnels and roads. On that particular afternoon, we must have decided to add a lake using the garden hose.

When sentient beings think on Amida

Just as a child thinks of its mother,

They indeed see the Tathagata-
who is never distant-

Both in the present and in the future.

From Shinran's Jodo Wasan - Hymns of the Pure Land, #115

Reflections on Sunday Services

By Glenn Kitasoe

Since becoming the Temple President I have been to more Sunday Services. In fact, I have been to more Services this year than the past few years. With the 750th and its chanting every morning before our meetings and then Sundays Service, I have to say I have done more chanting than in the past 3-4 years. It is only April. I know a President should not say such things but that's the way it is.

Overall it's been a positive influence coming to Sunday Service. I have always enjoyed being in the Hondo with the fragrance of the incense and the soothing sounds of the congregation chanting.

It's a time when you actually take time out of your busy life to reflect and spend time thinking of the spiritual part of our lives.

I always feel better leaving the Hondo then when I first

Everything became "Mud City".

We had been so involved in our new syrupy creation that we didn't hear the approaching footsteps. All of us were startled when we heard, "Look at all of you!"

Mom did an abrupt turn about and went back into the comfort of the air-conditioned house. Those were the words that often chilled us to our bones because we had done something wrong.

We looked at each other and realized that our "Mud City" also included "Mud People" for none of us could see anything that could be distinguished as skin. I remember feeling like a See's hollow chocolate Santa Claus awaiting our punishment for First-degree mud-slaughter.

And now the judge who had left the comfort of her 68-degree chamber returned once again into the 108-degree courtroom and was about to pronounce her sentence.

"I thought you all could use these," she said handing each one of us an ice-cold orange-creme Popsicle. I remember all four of us taking a break from our civil engineering project to enjoy the cool refreshing treat that hot summer afternoon.

I think back and reflect that we really weren't hollow chocolate figures at all. We were filled with marshmallowy warmth.

Happy Mother's Day.

Namoamidabutsu,

Reflections on Sunday Services (Cont'd from Page 1)

This is a new generation of youth who are chairing our services walked in. It's a calmness or spiritual fulfillment.

Another positive that is just amazing is our youth. These very young members are now running the Services. I can barely see them behind the lectern but I know they are there, for I hear them. They are 5 to 12 years of age, but other than their squeaky voices they seem years older.

Can you imagine yourself getting up before a congregation of 100—200 Temple Members and having to appear calm but your heart rate is out of control?

This is a new generation of youth who are chairing our services. I have witnessed these same children play the piano or cello for our Oshoko or our Gathas. I have heard some impressive dharma talks too, better than some of our adults. Can you imagine yourself doing this when you were growing up? These Children are going to be great and they are our Temple kids. I am impressed with their maturity and grateful because they are going to be our future. It's going to be something to witness when it's their turn to step up to be the future leaders of our Temple.

In Case of Emergencies—Contact Information Wanted

I would like the Temple members to know their Zone Chairs will be calling them to ask for an Emergency Contact number. This is not mandatory but for your benefit.

We would like the phone and cell numbers of people you would like us to contact in case of an emergency. In the past, we have had a few emergencies where we have called 911. We want to take care of our Temple members.

We only need this in an emergency. Hopefully we will not need to use the Emergency List but if needed it will be important.

These numbers will be in a secure area in the Office so it will be private. So when your Zone Person calls please give consideration.

June 17th (Thurs)—Movie
Hachi: A Dog's Tale
This award-winning movie will be shown as part of the Senior Activities program.

This heartwarming movie is based on the true story of Hachiko, an Akita dog, which belonged to Hidesaburo Ueno, a professor at the University of Tokyo.

This remarkable, faithful Akita dog, saw his master off at the front door of their home and greeted him daily at the end of the day at the nearby Shibuya train station as his master returned from work. This routine went on from 1924 to 1925. This daily routine came to an abrupt end when the professor died of a stroke while at work. Even after Hachiko was given to another family he continued his daily wait at the train station for the next 10 years. Hachiko became a national hero and symbol of loyalty so that in 1934 a bronze statue of him was erected at the exact location at the Shibuya station.

A Japanese movie was made based on this story in 1987 called "Hachiko Monogatari. This American version starring Richard Gere was produced by Vicki Shigekuni Wong in 2009 and has received world-wide acclaim and many awards.

Recipes Wanted!
We are looking favorite recipes. The Senior Activity Group will publish a "Senior Cook Book" for our 50th Anniversary project. Turn in recipes to Jeanne Ohara, Amy Imai or Aiko Sugimoto.

We want to express our sincere gratitude for the many monetary and material donations that we continue to receive. The proceeds will be used to supplement the lunches, trips and special activities that are planned during the year. These donations enhance the operation of our program.
