The Lost Wallet (II)

By Rev. Dean Koyama

When I was a student in Japan, I lost my wallet. I must have dropped it on a bus. Despite the language barrier, I was somehow able to find the bus depot and went to the office and was able to claim my lost wallet with everything still intact.

I felt so grateful and thought about giving a reward to whoever found it, but not knowing how to say reward in Japanese, I just said Arigato to the clerk and left. And I remember walking away feeling empty, guilty, and embarrassed because I didn't try to use my Japanese to try to convey even a token of my heartfelt appreciation.

What makes this nearly 30-year old incident interesting is its sequel.

As many of you know, I was assigned to the Mountain View Buddhist temple in January, 2003. My family and I flew from Sea-Tac airport to San Jose on December 20th. While waiting for our flight to depart, we went to the gift shop to look around. Tommy, who was about 7 at the time, bought everyone some gum with the money in his wallet. Shortly arriving in San Jose and while waiting for our luggage, Tommy realized that he had lost his wallet.

Tommy and I ran back to the gate and asked if we could go back on the plane and check the area where we were sitting. However, since our flight was the last one of the day, they had already locked the plane. A crew would come in the next morning to clean it. If they found the wallet, they would turn it in to the lost and found. We left our names and phone

Glenn Kitasoe's Last Article as Temple President

By Glenn Kitasoe

As my term as Temple President comes to an end, I would like you to understand and appreciate what it takes to run a Temple of our size and its related programs.

2011 expenses were $295,000. That's what it takes to keep MVBT going. Costs are all going up, and there is work that still needs to be done. We increased our dues $25 to $200 per member. With 518 Members, the Temple receives $103,600 from dues.

That leaves $191,400 to make up with Special Activities and Donations. This is how we have operated for many years, but I think there is a better way. MVBT might consider the following: What if we, as a Temple, take the yearly budgeted expense and divide it by the number of Temple members?

For example, if $300,000 is budgeted for 2012, we divide by 518 members. This is $580. We recommend $580 for each member to pay—which includes dues and all special donations normally made during the year. It could be paid annually, quarterly, or monthly. It would be a recommended but not required amount. Some would pay

Last Week to Sign Up for YBA Spaghetti Dinner

In December, we sent 2 members to the Coast District retreat in Monterey. They spent their time chanting, and discussing the Buddhism in the Harry Potter movies while enjoying Reverend Sakamoto's delicious cooking.

In the spirit of the Holidays, we donated a $1,000 to the Capital Campaign. This was the money we raised through the Pancake Breakfast held at the end of October.

We also gave a 20-cup rice cooker as an end-of-the-year gift to the Temple.

We are currently planning our winter ski trip for Jan 20th-22nd and will drive up to Lake Tahoe and hopefully see some snow!

We are also currently planning our spaghetti dinner which will be held on February 11th. Come out and enjoy Mrs. Hirotsu's delicious spaghetti and help support YBA!

number, but they never did call. Needless to say, Tommy felt very badly about this.

As young parents we wanted to help, so we decided to buy him a new one. On our way to my brother's where we were gathering on Christmas Day, we stopped at the only store open and found a wallet for him. He put all of his new Christmas money and gift cards in it. He also remembered to write his name and address on the ID tag, which he didn't do for the other one.

On the day after Christmas, we have a tradition of taking our kids to the mall to buy whatever they want with their Christmas money. This time, we also planned to meet my brother's family to see a movie. We went to the mall and Tommy found a Lego jet that he paid for with the money in his wallet. We then went to the movie, which ended after 11:00PM.

By then the mall was deserted, but we had to walk through it to get to the parking lot. We made it to the parking garage. Just as we were getting to our car, Tommy falls to the ground, wailing. We were all shocked and surprised.

"Tommy, what's wrong? Are you hurt?"

"I lost my wallet again," he cried.

We had him search all of his pockets. We looked in our bags. Then we thought that maybe it fell in the theater. Tommy and I ran back through the dark and completely deserted mall. When we got to the theater, I explained that my young son thought he left his wallet in the theater and asked to go back inside to check. Luckily, they hadn't cleaned up the theater since it was the last showing of the night. We found our row of seats. We pulled the seat down and looked but it was not there. We looked underneath and…there it was.

"Look Tommy, we found it."

But Tommy's reaction was quite different from the grateful relief and elation that I had when my wallet was returned at the bus station in Japan.

Tommy didn't want it. He said, "I'm not old enough to take care of it."

He realized the depth of his limitations. As a parent, I couldn't help but feel his pain and despair, because I too had done the exact same thing.

That is the idea behind Compassion. Compassion is not something that we can will. We can't go around and say "Gee, I think I will be compassionate today and do good deeds for others." That is not the compassion that is talked about in Buddhism.

Compassion in Buddhism is truly understanding what another being is feeling. And this is achieved only when one has gone through the exact same experience. Tommy's reaction or realization was a truly honest and profound reflection upon himself, much, much deeper than mine.

Shinran has so clearly explained this by describing himself as a foolish being with the heaviest karmic impediments. Yet Shinran's point was not to leave us in despair for the nature of our true human selves. Shinran realized through his own experience as a practicing monk on Mt. Hiei, the depth of darkness created by his own calculations and greed. But he also realized that extending into that darkness is a penetrating light of wisdom and compassion from the Buddha or from Life itself.

Despite the coldness of our faults and frailties, we are nurtured and embraced with warmth. All the more is it important to repay our great debt of gratitude by becoming aware of our limitations.

Only by realizing our limitations do we discover a limitless world. Only by discovering the limits of our potential, do we awaken to the unlimited potential of Truth itself.

Perhaps that is why, the Buddha, on his own deathbed said to his disciples, "Make the Light of the Dharma teachings be the Lamp onto ourselves."

Rev. Dean

less, some pay that amount, and some pay more if they are able.

What would this do? All funds from Special Activities and Obon could be applied to the next phase of Renovation or perhaps even add a paid Office Staff.

With this system, we could be more progressive and have more options. We would take pressure from Special Activities raising a certain amount of money. Again, these are my thoughts but something we may want to consider for the future.

Being President of MVBT has been educational, giving me an appreciation for what it takes to run a Jodo Shinshu Temple. I decided to serve 2 years because I thought this would be enough time, but now I realize you need more time.

I would like to thank Reverend Koyama and Mountain View Buddhist Temple for helping me during my Presidency. There are many people that I used as my advisors—I have mentioned you in previous articles, and I appreciate all you have done for me.

MVBT Members are the Best.

We may have different leadership but the Members make it happen. The Elders who have led us is why we have it so good!

I leave the Presidency in good hands with Bob Imai as President and a strong Cabinet as well.

It's been an Honor representing Mountain View Buddhist Temple and a Privilege being your President.

Although my title is gone I will still follow the Example of our Elders.

In Gassho,

Glenn Kitasoe

ABA News

ABA is busy sponsoring the Sunday services in January. Thanks to all the participating members.

January meeting will be held at the New Year Dinner on Saturday January 21, 2012.

ABA 2012 cabinet will be installed at the service on Sunday, January 29, 2012.

50th Anniversary Meeting—February 13th

Construction is shaping up. The Nokotsudo Annex is ready for the roof and the limited accessibility ramp is blending in with the Temple building.

The added time will enable us to have everything completed by the September 29-30th anniversary date.

Your input is important.

Please attend the meetings and be part of this important phase of the our Temple.

2012 Schedule of Events

Senior Events

Happy & Healthy New Year from the Seniors Group

2012 marks 10 years for our Senior Activity Group and 7 years for the Craft Group. We have come a long way and are still growing. We welcome everyone to join.

We started the New Year Senior Activity and Craft session on January 5th, 2012. Another exciting year has been planned for 2012.

Here is the tentative schedule of events for 2012. This provides you advanced notice so that you can mark these dates on your calendar. However, be aware that these dates can change.

2012 SCHEDULE OF EVENTS

JAN 19—Bingo with lunch

FEB 16—Speaker on Digestive System

MAR 15—Day trip to Annie's Glass in Watsonville w/lunch at Shadowbrook in Felton ($89 per person)

APR 19—movie (TBD) with lunch. Trip to Wundermann place after the movie, if anyone interested.

NOV 15—Casino Day. Dennis Tsukagawa & Company in charge. Last day of activities.

DEC—Winter Break. No activities.

If there is a place of interest that you would like to visit, please let us know, and perhaps we can accommodate your interest.

SENIOR CRAFT

We continue making lap blankets to give to our members and friends who are in rest homes, and home care. This is a nice way to show that we care and that our thoughts are with them. We have given away 25 lap blankets so far. This is very heartwarming to all of us, knowing the Dana feeling. If you know anyone who has extra yarn, please mention our Senior Craft Group. Our Senior are kept very busy helping others with different projects. Yarn is a big tool for our projects.

Thank you to our Senior craft ladies for spending many hours working on different projects to supply and provide for the Obon bazaar sales, boutiques and the different fundraisers. We are able to subsidize the many trips and lunches that are provided with these fundraisers. We are also fortunate to donate to the 50th Anniversary through your generous support during our fund raisers. Arigato.

CRAFT HOURS

Thursdays, 9:00AM-12:00PM

Light refreshment of coffee, tea and desserts are always provided.

Everyone is welcome to join in and share new ideas. Please feel free to join us, for we are always looking to make new friends.

Thank You From Dharma School

Why Join the BWA? The Real Question Is Why Not?!

By Marie Ochi-Jacobs

When asked, "Why did you join BWA?" My initial reaction was, "Because I didn't know any better." Upon further reflection, I am satisfied that this answer succinctly expresses my frame of mind and intent.

It took the passing of my best friend to spur me to join the BCA Sangha. I think of her often and remember my last words to her were "You are Buddha." She was a model friend whom I admired and with whom I shared many hours of laughter. Her take on life, humility, courage and generosity always stirred my sense of pride to be regarded as her friend.

Similarly I will always cherish the friendship of Yasuko Kariya, Clara Hoshida, Mrs. Shinseki, Mary Hiramoto and Minako Nakamoto, as I recall their wit, wisdom, and cheer.

While it may have been ignorance that led me to join the "fujinkai" I know now that it was the best decision.

I have found BWA to be genuine, petty, dedicated, disciplined, responsible, fun, reliable, cheeky, educational, humble, aggravating and enjoyable. In the BWA, age is not an issue—who is NOT getting older? As we celebrate each birthday, we look behind and see others picking up the torch, and look ahead with gratitude to those who lit the torch.

And because we cannot do without them, individual men have been designated as "honorary members" as we often rely on their help. Overall, I enjoy the camaraderie, acceptance, and the chance to speak "sukoshi" Japanese.

The real question is "Why not join the BWA?"

Family Memorial Services

Traditionally, Family Memorial Services are conducted for loved ones on certain anniversaries. If your loved one passed away in one of the following years, you may wish to schedule a service:

Year of Death	Service
2011	1st year
2010	3rd Annual
2006	7th Annual
2000	13th Annual
1996	17th Annual
1988	25th Annual
1980	33rd Annual
1963	50th Annual
1913	100th Annual

As the schedule for the temple fills quickly, you are advised to make arrangements with Rev. Koyama and the temple as soon as possible to accommodate your date and time requests.

Call the temple office at (650) 964-9426 or e-mail Rev. Koyama at dkoyama@comcast.net.
