An Extraordinary Woman

By Curtis Koyama

Most grandchildren address their grandmother as "Grandma, Bachan, or Nana". But as far as I can remember, we always called her "Baba." Baba colloquially means "old lady" in Japanese, which at first seems a little rude. However, my mother saw a young child calling his grandmother "Baba" while she was in Japan. The child meant no disrespect. On the contrary he used the term to emphasize their close and informal relationship. Baba was the perfect way to call our Grandmother.

Throughout her life, our Baba had many moments where it would have been easy to complain. She was called "Jap girl," as a child. She contracted TB. While living at her parents' orchard, she was required to work in the kitchen to cook meals for the workers. Finally, her entire family had pack up and leave for internment camp. Yet she never complained or showed any sign of resentment. She was a devout Jodo Shinshu Buddhist, I have to believe that the Dharma played a central role to her even-tempered attitude towards life.

Baba never shied away from hard work and was ready to do everything that she could for her children and grandchildren. She even traveled to Japan when my parents were getting ready for the birth of my brother. My mom felt reassured because Baba could translate for the doctors in the hospital. At that time, being in her "young" 70s, Baba climbed four flights of stairs in the humid Japanese summer, cooked, cleaned, washed diapers and everything in between. Even though my family lived far from her, Baba visited on every birthday and every Thanksgiving.

And Baba was always sharp and resourceful. One day, my little brother and I were with Baba as our baby-sitter. Of course, my 'baby' brother started to annoy me. In hindsight, he probably just

Gratitude for Our New Facilities—President's Message

By Bob Imai

We are in the home stretch—about 99% of planned construction has been completed.

The City of Mountain View has given its approval to reoccupy the Hondo, the new Nokotsudo and the YBA Hall. There will be one final walk through for the Hondo and new Nokotsudo with the contractor. There are still a lot of things to do before we can fully use all the new facilities. We're back in the office, but still working out all the logistics. The YBA Hall and new kitchen look great.

Before reoccupying the Hondo, we are planning to do some additional painting, flooring, carpeting and other repairs. Also, there will be some additional repairs done to the two side altars.

The Nokotsudo Committee has been working hard on revising the Nokotsudo Policies and process for moving back in.

I'd like to thank all the people who've worked so hard to make this project a reality as well as the Sangha and others for their financial support. Once the project is officially unveiled, I believe the wanted to play. At the time however, I took it upon myself to get some quiet time alone.

While he was playing with some action figures, I locked him inside a bedroom. Since my brother was too small and young to open doors, he was trapped. He began screaming and banging his tiny fists against the door. Baba rushed downstairs and at first couldn't open the door. But using her sharp mind and some handy pick work, she rescued my brother. After that, she always kept a watchful eye on my brother and even when we were teenagers. She made sure that I never messed with him again.

Wanting to instill Japanese culture into her kids, Baba pushed my mother to learn Chado or Japanese tea. As she took my mom to her weekly lessons, she began to develop a love of tea for herself. After many years of practice, Baba eventually earned her tea name and my uncle installed a brand new tearoom inside her home.

When my family stayed at Baba's home, my brothers and I would sleep in the tearoom. I was much too young to appreciate the importance of tea and all of its rituals. As a child, the tearoom was simply our play room. Many years later, I learned that the essence of tea is to leave baggage outside and to be present within the moment.

Many times when I get caught up with the many distractions of this 21st century life, I think back to the simple times when I would sit quietly in that tearoom while I watched my Baba make tea.

Anyone who knew my Baba would know that she went all out for new years. Although every grandmother miraculously has the "good cook gene" embedded within her DNA, Baba's cooking will surely be missed. She never really followed recipes, using trial and error, constantly tasting and adjusting. She always would cook joyfully as she looked forward to seeing the family. Baba always brought the whole family together.

Towards the end of her life, Baba started to lose her basic faculties. I witnessed the sadness my mother faced when Baba could no longer recognize any of us. The strong and stubborn woman that we all knew slipped away.

Some might say that we lost Baba long before her actual moment of physical death. I disagree. Baba's influence continued through her battle with Parkinson's disease and continues even now.

Her very existence highlights impermanence and the importance of telling loved ones how much they mean to you. The weekly visits to Baba brought us a sense of appreciation for the unsung heroes—the workers, phenomenal hospice nurses, and especially my Uncle.

His patience and kind reassuring words to Baba were the tell-tale signs of a son whose heart was filled with gratitude. Taking her for walks, massaging her feet, and whispering words of reassurance made such an everlasting impression on me. If I could be half the son that Uncle was to his Mom, I would be very happy. These observations and lessons have been imparted on me because of my grandmother's life.

Reverend Yukawa reminds us of a priceless lesson involving the term Kansha which means gratitude. Kansha consists of two characters: Kan which means "sense" or "feel" and Sha, which means "to be sorry" or "To apologize".

Yukawa Sensei explained that when someone feels true gratitude, there is also a hint of sadness because the person feels as if they can never repay the kindness that was shown. I too feel a hint of sadness because Baba has given us so much. We never will be able to repay Baba for her hard work, never-wavering gratitude, or her warm and generous heart. Her influence will continue to reach us from the Pure Land while we hold her in our memories.

Baba was an important link in the infinite causes and conditions that allowed us to be here today. Perhaps without realizing it, she is still an important link in the causes and conditions that influence the outcomes of tomorrow.

Like the young Japanese child who called his grandmother a unique and cherished name, I must now say goodbye to Baba, a very unique and cherished grandmother.

Ki-E Shiki Affirmation Ceremony 帰依式

2005 Ki-E Shiki Ceremony

In conjunction with our MVBT 50TH Anniversary, we will be conduct a Ki-E Shiki or Affirmation Ceremony. The Ki-E Shiki is a layperson's affirmation to follow the Buddha's path to Enlightenment.

It is a simple ceremony whose basic ritual is the symbolic shaving of the head—recalling the act of Prince Siddartha upon deciding to enter the spiritual path. Centuries later, Shinran underwent the same ceremony when he entered the monastery at the age of nine. Today, when this ceremony is conducted by the Go-monshu, the spiritual leader of our Jodo Shinshu tradition of Buddhism it is called Kikyo-shiki or the Confirmation Ceremony. Only the Go-monshu or his select representative can conduct this ceremony. We will have the privilege of having the newly appointed, Socho Kodo Umezu, Bishop of the Buddhist Churches of America, conduct this ceremony as one of his first official duties for the Mountain View Buddhist Temple.

During this ceremony, participants will take refuge and affirm (Ki-E 帰依) the Three Treasures of the Buddha, Dharma (Teachings) and Sangha (community). A Dharma Name (Hō-myō 法名) will then be presented. The Hō-myō is composed of two Chinese characters preceded by the character shaku 釋. This character is used as a reference to Sakyamuni, the Historical Buddha, and designates that one has become a disciple of the Buddha.

If you are interested in taking part in this very simple yet meaningful ceremony, please fill out the form below and return it to Rev. Koyama. There is a registration fee of $25 per person to the BCA. If you have any questions, please direct them to Rev. Koyama.

THE DEADLINE FOR THESE APPLICATIONS IS AUGUST 26TH. These applications must be turned into the BCA Headquarters. Therefore, no applications will be accepted after the deadline.

YBA Updates

YBA Volleyball Tournament Upcoming

We are currently practicing volleyball in the gym every Friday for the Bay District Volleyball tournament in May. Our YBA has been very successful at this tournament but we only have a few weeks to whip our teams into shape and bring home the 1st place trophy for the 4th year in a row!

We will send 14 members to the Bay District Volleyball tournament which we are currently practicing for. Wish us luck!

At our last meeting on May 6th, we held elections for next year's YBA cabinet. Congratulations to Jen Adachi for being elected president along with Kevin Schindler in becoming our next vice president.

We also prepared for the Mother's Day Brunch. We were glad that all mothers arrived early to be pampered and fed delicious food!

We are also helping with the fortune cookie bagging for the chicken teriyaki fundraiser.
